EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Order)

The Welsh Ministers may, under section 87 of the Local Government Act 2000, make provision by Order to change the years in which the ordinary elections of councillors of any specified local authority (or local authorities) are to be held.

This Order, made under sections 87, 105(2) and (3) and 106(1) of the Local Government Act 2000, provides that the ordinary elections of councillors of county councils, county borough councils and community councils in Wales will take place in 2017 instead of 2016. It does so by substituting “2017” in the appropriate places in the Local Government Act 1972, which sets the years of ordinary elections for county councils, county borough councils and community councils.

This Order also revokes the Isle of Anglesey Local Authorities (Change to the Years of Ordinary Elections) Order 2012⁽⁹⁾. That Order provided for the ordinary elections of councillors to the county council and to community councils in the Isle of Anglesey county to take place in 2013, rather than 2012, and for subsequent elections to take place every four years after 2013. The effect of that Order is that, as at the time of making this Order, the next ordinary elections of councillors in the Isle of Anglesey county will take place in 2017. As the ordinary elections in 2013 have taken place and this Order substitutes “2017” in the Local Government Act 1972, the 2012 Order is no longer needed and can be revoked.

This Order provides that the current term of office of existing councillors elected to county councils, county borough councils and community councils in Wales is accordingly extended by one year.

The scheme for the ordinary elections of councillors of county councils and county borough councils in Wales as set out in section 26 of the Local Government Act 1972 is unchanged. The scheme for the ordinary elections of community councillors of community councils in Wales as set out in section 35 of the Local Government Act 1972 is also unchanged.

A regulatory impact assessment has been prepared as to the likely costs and benefits of complying with this Order. A copy can be obtained from the Local Government Democracy Division, Local Government and Communities Department, Welsh Government, Cathays Park, Cardiff CF10 3NQ.
